the WORLD 2017
LESS KNOWN
A SINGULAR JOURNEY
BY PRIVATE JET
OCTOBER 20 TO NOVEMBER 13, 2017
You know more of a road by having traveled it than by all the conjectures and descriptions in the world.

—William Hazlitt
Here is a trip of a different order of magnitude. Words like “exceptional” and “extraordinary” do scant justice to the epic scale and breathtaking scope of this off-the-beaten-path adventure. On this journey we visit 10 very different countries whose recent histories and political differences belie the fact that they have surprising deep cultural connections and shared ideologies. Traveling from place to place aboard our private jet, experience an incredibly diverse range of landscapes, cultures and experiences—from the glorious temples of Java and the historic wonders of Sri Lanka to the culture and traditions of Oman, Iran and Morocco. Delve into the history of Nepal, witness sacred ceremonies on the banks of India’s Ganges and marvel at the legacy of Timur’s reign in Uzbekistan.

There is no better way to get the most out of each destination than traveling in the company of our erudite faculty leaders, Abbas Milani and Judith Goldstein, and there is no more expeditious or convenient way to get around than by private jet.

This is quite simply a singular journey. I hope you will join us.

Brett S. Thompson, ’83
Director, Stanford Travel/Study

Abbas Milani is the Hamid and Christina Moghadam Director of Iranian Studies and visiting professor in the political science department at Stanford. He was born in Iran into a Muslim family and educated by French nuns and Jesuit priests before leaving Iran as a teen for the U.S. After earning his PhD, he returned to Iran in 1976 to teach at Tehran University. He left Iran once more in 1986.

As a young man, Dr. Milani was involved in secular opposition politics and, as a result, has had close encounters with many of the current leaders of the Islamic Republic of Iran. Throughout his adult life, Dr. Milani has focused his studies on the culture, politics and society of the Middle East, particularly Iran.

Dr. Milani is thrilled to be leading the trip, saying, “To see so much of the less-seen world in the company of so many who have seen, studied and accomplished much is for me a dream come true.”

- Research fellow and co-director, Iran Democracy Project, Hoover Institution
- Chair and professor, history and political science department, Notre Dame de Namur University, 1988–2001
- Assistant professor, law and political science faculty, Tehran University, 1979–1986
- Author of numerous articles and books, including Lost Wisdom: Rethinking Persian Modernity in Iran (Mage, 2004)
- BA, political science and economics, UC-Berkeley
- PhD, political science, University of Hawaii

Abbas Milani will not be able to join the group for the scheduled three days in Isfahan, Iran, due to his Iranian birth, however he will provide significant background and history of the country before our arrival in Iran and after he rejoin the group in Morocco.
Judith Goldstein is the Janet M. Peck Professor of International Communication at Stanford. Her research focuses on international political economy with an emphasis on trade and globalization. Her current research focuses on a number of subjects, including the benefits and costs of trade agreements, such as the Transpacific Partnership and the WTO; the re-organization of national entities, especially in the Middle East; post-U.S. intervention; and the changing nature of U.S. public opinion on a number of contemporary issues.

Says Goldstein, “This trip is a wonderful opportunity to visit some of the most unique and interesting nations in the world. Our itinerary includes many nations and cultures; we will see for ourselves the large range of ways in which these nations have faced the challenges of economic and political development. It is a once-in-a-lifetime experience.”

MONDAY & TUESDAY, OCTOBER 30 & 31
Colombo, Sri Lanka | Kathmandu, Nepal

FLIGHT TIME: 3H 20M

After flying from Sri Lanka and arriving in Kathmandu, drive to the World Heritage-designated city of Bhadgaon, also known as Bhaktapur, or City of Devotees. Founded in the 9th century, Bhaktapur is known for its medieval art and architecture. Visit Durbar Square, the Palace of 55 windows and the Nyatapola Temple, considered the finest example of the pagoda style of architecture.

Also, visit the World Heritage site of Patan, commissioned by India’s great emperor Ashoka in the 3rd century. This royal city is enclosed within four stupas and the main square is surrounded by impressive temples. After visiting the Patan Museum, set in a picturesque setting within the palace, stop for lunch before heading back to Kathmandu for a tour of one of its three Durbar Squares, all of which are World Heritage sites. The one we visit is also known as the Hanuman Dhoka Palace Square, named after the Hindu monkey god Hanuman, whose huge stone impression acts as a protector next to the square’s main entrance. We’ll also see a great variety of temples constructed mainly between the 15th and 18th centuries and dedicated to different Hindu gods and goddesses. This evening, visit the World Heritage-designated Hindu temple of Pashupatinath and take part in an Aarti ceremony. Situated in a natural setting on the bank of the sacred Bagmati River, the temple is built in the pagoda style and features a gilded roof and richly carved silver door. Dine this evening at our hotel.

DWARika’S HOTEL
This morning, we have time to visit the Boudhanath Stupa prior to our noon departure for India. The stupa, a center of the Tibetan community in Nepal, is inset with prayer wheels and ringed with homes of lamas, or Buddhist monks. From the stupa we visit a nearby monastery where we meet with a senior-level monk before heading to the airport. Continue to Dehradun, which lies in the foothills of the Himalayas. Known as the birthplace of yoga, Dehradun is also home to the former palace of the Maharaja of Tehri-Garhwal, where we stay for the next two nights. While ensconced in our peaceful resort, become immersed in the spirituality of the region with a yoga or meditation session, an Ayurvedic treatment, or one of any number of Western or Eastern massages. On our first evening here, enjoy a performance of some of India’s most beloved forms of dance.

The next day, rise early for optional yoga or meditation. Then embark on a nature walk or a spiritual class in Vedanta, one of the six orthodox schools of Hindu philosophy. Relax in the afternoon before descending to the banks of the Ganges River in Rishikesh, where the Beatles famously met with the legendary Maharishi Mahesh Yogi—a connection that introduced many in the West to Indian spirituality. At sunset, watch as pilgrims set floating lamps upon the sacred waters as part of an aarti ritual, the Hindu ceremony of light.

Then pay our respects to the feared conqueror, Timur, in his grand tomb, the sparkling Gur-Emir, which is crowned with a turquoise dome. You are expected to be active and in good health, enjoy traveling as part of a group and be able to experience cultural differences with grace. Walking and climbing stairs are required when boarding our aircraft, at some of our hotels and on many excursions. Daily programs involve one to three miles of walking that might include stairs without handrails, high thresholds and uneven terrain such as cobblestone city streets. There may be some early-morning departures and late nights during the course of our journey. Details about health and medical considerations will be sent to confirmed travelers. We welcome travelers 15 years of age and older on this program.

“Because the countries we visited are ‘less traveled’ their inhabitants greeted us so warmly and expressed their gratitude to us for coming. We were all disarmingly glad to have them share their world with us! My lasting emotion is gratitude for the experience.”

Leaving an expedition in progress, for any reason whatsoever, will not result in a refund, and no refunds will be made for any unused portions of the Expedition. If you cancel and provide a substitute participant for this trip, you will receive a full refund of money paid toward the price less an administrative charge of $25 for effecting the substitution once the substitute participant has paid in full. Please note that the costs for visas, commercial air tickets, insurance, suite upgrades, and pre- or post-expedition independent arrangements may not be refundable.

If we make major changes prior to departure, you have the right to cancel and receive a full refund. The following are major changes: (1) a change in the departure or return date, unless the change results from a flight delay experienced by the air carrier (if, however, the delay is longer than 48 hours, it will be considered a major change); (2) a change in the origin or destination city for any flight leg, unless the change affects only the order in which cities named in a tour package are visited; (3) a substitute of any hotel of lower standard; (4) a price increase of more than 10 percent occurring 10 or more days before departure. In no event can we increase your price less than 10 days before departure. If a major change must be made in the program, we will notify you within 7 days after first learning of the change, but in any event at least 10 days prior to the scheduled departure. If, less than 10 days before scheduled departure, we become aware that a major change must be made, we will notify you as soon as possible. Within 7 days after receiving notification of a major change, but in no event later than departure, you may cancel your reservation and you will receive a full refund within 14 days after canceling. If a major change occurs after the departure of the flight, which you are unwilling to accept, we will refund, within 14 days after your scheduled departure date, that portion of your payment, which applies to the services not accepted. If we must cancel the expedition, we will notify you in writing within 7 days of the cancellation, but in no event later than 10 days before the scheduled departure date. We have no right to cancel the tour less than 10 days before departure, except for circumstances that make it physically impossible to perform the tour. If such a circumstance occurs, we will notify you as soon as possible, but not later than the scheduled departure date. If the Expedition is canceled, we will make a full refund to you within 14 days after cancellation. The rights and remedies made available under this contract are in addition to any other rights or remedies available under applicable law. However, we offer refunds under this contract with the express understanding that the receipt of that refund by a traveler waives the additional remedies.

International Flights: The operation of these flights is subject to the foreign governments involved granting landing rights for the flight. If the air carrier cannot obtain these rights for any particular flight leg of the expedition, that flight leg will be canceled and alternative arrangements may be made, at the discretion of the Sponsor and Operator. Our itinerary will include flights on smaller aircraft operated by local approved airline carriers. Seating on these aircraft will be economy or economy with limited business seats, based on the configuration of the aircraft.

Visa Documents/Entry Permits: To participate in the Tour, visas and/or entry permits may be required for some countries. The cost of acquiring visas and/or entry permits is included in the trip price, but failure to obtain visas and/or entry permits does not negate the terms and conditions. Should our independent security advisors assess that there is anything related to your professional or personal history that may preclude you from visiting Iran safely, we will deviate you around Iran at our expense. We will provide information on the necessary visas and/or entry permits in the Tour documents.

Health Requirements: This expedition is an active program, which requires you to make a realistic assessment of your health. All participants are expected to be active and in good health, to enjoy traveling as part of a group and to be ready to experience cultural differences with grace. Prior to traveling, we highly recommend your visiting your personal physician for a checkup, so that you may discuss your ability to participate in this type of journey. To go to certain destinations or participate in certain activities, such as visiting a high-altitude area (7,500 feet above sea level and higher), you will need to obtain your physician’s approval. A form will be sent to you for your physician to sign. Any physical condition requiring special attention, diet or treatment should be reported in writing when the reservation is made. We will make reasonable efforts to accommodate travelers with special needs; however, we regret that we cannot accommodate wheelchairs.

Stanford and the Operator reserve the right, at their sole discretion, to remove anyone whose physical condition or behavior compromises the operation of the private jet tour, detracts from the enjoyment or safety of other participants, or poses a safety threat to the participant. The removed party will not be entitled to a refund or any compensation by, or from, the Operator or Stanford for the Tour, including any refund for any unused portions of the Tour. Any liabilities, costs and expenses resulting from such removal, including but not limited to the costs of travel arrangements, are the sole responsibility of the removed party and not Stanford or the Operator.

Single/Shared Accommodations: A limited number of single rooms are available at extra cost on a first-come, first-served basis.

Basis of Rates: All prices and fares are quoted in U.S. dollars. The rates are based on current tariffs and are subject to change due to unforeseen circumstances. While we will do everything possible to maintain the listed prices, if it is necessary to levy a surcharge, we reserve the right to do so and will notify you at the time of final invoicing. The Operator reserves the right to cancel any trip because of inadequate enrollment that makes the trip economically infeasible to operate. In such a case, a full refund of the expedition cost will be made.

Itinerary Changes: The itineraries and staff presented in this brochure are subject to modification and change by the Sponsor, Operator and authorized Carrier Service Provider for all Bangladesh- and Iran-related travel. Every reasonable effort will be made to operate the program as planned; however, should unforeseen world events and conditions require our itinerary to be altered, we reserve the right to do so for the safety and best interest of the group.

PLEASE NOTE: In the event we cannot visit Iran, we will instead visit Turkmenistan. There will be no change to the tour price in the event of either such itinerary change.

By registering for the Expedition, the participant agrees to the Operator-Participant Contract, Responsibility Statement, and Terms and Conditions herein.
